

THOMPSON FUNERAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Capital Surgeon Will Be Buried in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph Ford Thompson, who died yesterday at George Washington University Hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of his nephew, Dr. J. L. Lavin Thompson, 1444 M street northwest, with Rev. W. T. Snyder, pastor of the Church of the Incarnation, officiating. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery. Dr. Thompson, had he lived until March 20, would have been 30 years old. He had been ill for nearly three years, and his death was caused by infirmities incident to old age.

Funeralbearers will be Dr. C. W. Franzoni, Dr. John R. Wellington, Dr. F. S. Adams, Dr. L. S. Stone, Dr. Arthur Snyder, Dr. Frank Leach, Dr. G. Wythe Cook, of this city, and Dr. Edward Anderson, of Rockville, Md.

Dr. Thompson was born in Leonardtown, Md., March 20, 1887. He was graduated from the University of Maryland with a degree of doctor of medicine and was the first American to receive a medical degree from the University of Christians in Norway.

Dr. Thompson was the first practitioner to devote himself entirely to the study of surgery. During the civil war he was in charge of the old Washington Dispensary and performed similar duties at Frederick, Md. He was one of the consulting physicians called to the bedside of the martyred President, James A. Garfield. In Philadelphia, in 1873, on his 50th anniversary, he was tendered a banquet by members of the Medical and Surgical Convention, and it was there he made the announcement that thereafter he would apply himself only to surgery.

He is survived by a son, Dr. J. Ford Thompson, Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Thomas E. McArdie, of this city, and Mrs. Robert Waddell, of West Chester, Pa., and a nephew, Dr. J. Lavin Thompson, of 1444 M street northwest.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE GOES UP 260 PER CENT

Phenomenal Increase Since Beginning of War, Bankers Are Told.

"Since the European war our trade with America has increased 260 per cent," A. D. Welton, editor of the American Bankers' Association Bulletin, told the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Banking last night in an lecture in its rooms, 1214 F street northwest, on "Foreign Commerce."

He traced the development of our shipping policies up to the enactment of the new shipping bill and said that the United States had lost its foreign trade through its tariff legislation. The development of banking, he said, will always keep ahead of the development of trade.

Jerome Thralls, secretary of the clearing house section of the American Institute of Banking, spoke briefly on "Clearing Houses."

Roy L. Neuhauer, president of the association, presided and introduced the speakers. Judge Milton Elliott, consul of the Federal Reserve Board, will be the chief speaker at the meeting of the association next Thursday night.

WIND RIPS BANNERS; SENTINELS QUIT EARLY

Suffragist Pickets at White House Have Remedy, However.

The icy gale which swept Washington yesterday afternoon played havoc with the banners held by the "suff" pickets in front of the White House, and the silent sentinels left their posts a little earlier than usual.

Those who were on the picket line when the wind was blowing its hardest are unanimous in declaring that they "didn't mind the cold bite in the air, but simply didn't see any use in standing out there with ribbons instead of banners," the wind having ripped their battle-flags to shreds.

But they should worry, they have plenty more stored away in the store room at the Congressional Union, according to the statement.

When asked what they would do today if the high wind kept up, they answered that the wind could sift through the flags without wrecking them.

HIS SENTENCE INCREASED.

Paris, Feb. 1.—William Chester Silberman, of New York, will serve one year in prison as a result of his appeal to a higher court from a sentence of five months' imprisonment and a fine of 500 francs on a charge of trading with the enemy. Increase of the sentence was announced today.

Silberman was in Paris, commissioned to sell rubber gloves to the belligerent nations for the King Rubber Company, of Hyde Park, Mass. Representations were made to Secretary Lansing by Silberman's sister, a New York resident, and Paul Gottwik, the prisoner's employer.

ADDRESSES Y. W. C. A. ON FIRST AID WORK

First aid work was described in detail yesterday afternoon by Miss Norma Schewender, physical director of the Y. W. C. A., to members of the Cranch Tyler Home and School Association at the Cranch School.

Miss Schewender told her audience of the necessity of realizing the value of first aid. She cited several cases where lack of knowing how to administer simple remedies before a doctor could be summoned had resulted in death.

Treatment of shock, hysteria and wounds was the subject of Miss Schewender's talk.

Boy Scouts, under the direction of Scoutmaster J. I. Kidwell, gave a demonstration drill in first aid work, showing their method of bandaging wounds.
